

RELIABILITY.

The word is evoked with considerable bravado.

The proof is on-site. Like our fuel gas boost compressor units that have been operating successfully for years at the La Laguna II power plant in Mexico.

Proven out time and again at power generation facilities around the world, Sundyne delivers a broad mix of highly engineered pumps and compressors (throughout the industrial sector) that promote the utmost in reliable plant performance, reduce emissions, lower maintenance costs, support regulatory compliance and enhance safety.

Ensuring that reliability keeps you up and running and defines our long-standing legacy. Our forty plus years of hands-on process industry experience continues to transform the global utility, industrial power, process and heat generation landscape, one product at a time.
